Public Comments:

Tim Garrison: I did write in names on ballots and want to know if they will be recorded before the election is certified. Clay says only certified write-ins will be counted. Garrison wants to know if they will be recorded in any way at this time. Clay states that all write-in votes are rejected unless they are certified write-ins for an open office on the ballot, and even the certified write-ins are not tracked unless they get enough write-ins to win. They are all rejected unless someone files the proper paperwork for that office. Garrison asks if those rejected votes will they be on record. Clay replies they will not be listed individually but they are considered rejected write-ins. SOS decides not to show uncertified write-ins in the results.

Bill Bruch: Skagit County Elections website says ten ballots left to count. Clay agrees, ten ballots left to count right now, we counted 100 or 120 today. We cured and counted some of the QS signature letters today. Approximately sixteen more now approved by canvassing board, so twenty-six ballots remain to count. Clay states Elections will not do another tabulation for a week unless large influx of signature verification letters comes in. Bruch seeks confirmation that one ballot envelope approved by canvassing board had two postmarks; Clay explains one wasn't a postmark, it was date stamp. The ballot was rejected because official USPS cancellation stamp was after Election Day, making it invalid.

Rylee Fleury: 3rd gen Skagitonian, reads letter allegedly submitted to Auditor's Office of Skagit County. Letter reads in part:

Notice of successor's intent to assume elected office. Notice being provided to confirm 2023 candidates elected herein that the duly elected people vacated office. In prep for commencement of successor's term for office, request that assurity be notified per RCW 48.28.420 (?), "principals" will taking office immediately at election certification or at soonest date after. Please provide official bond to filing contact address. Risk management point of contact. Five individuals that wrote this letter: Steven Rindal, commissioner Dist. 2, Darrell Fussell, Commissioner Dist. 3, Kevin Ewing, Sheriff; Cody Hart, Auditor; Linda Fussell, Treasurer.

There is a question of vacancy for those offices due to malfeasance. Are these being ignored? Clay responds that you cannot have a write-in for an office that is not on the ballot.

Perkins asks for any of last meeting's minutes to approve; Clay moves this approval forward to next meeting.

Perkins announces conclusion of duties and adjourns meeting at 2:58 PM.
