Hello, I'm Jennifer Johnson, Skagit's Public Health Director. Thank you for taking the time to view this video.

The Governor's Safe Start plan lays out a four-phase process for re-opening our state economy. It all starts with you. In order to move Skagit towards a safe lifting of Stay-Home, Stay-Healthy restrictions, we need you to do the same things you have been doing to the spread of COVID-19. This means continuing to practice physical distancing, wearing a mask or face covering in public, and washing your hands often for at least 20 seconds with soap and warm water. Sound familiar? I hope it does – but we all need these reminders so we can stay the course. As the virus declines, the more opportunities businesses will have to re-open safely. We need to continue to work together to reduce the rate of transmission, improve community health and help our economy. Thank you for doing these important things for the wellbeing and vitality of Skagit.
