76th YEAR, No. 267

MOUNT, VERNON, WASHINGTON, TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1961

ROAD FLOODED—As the Skagit River crested late yesterday afternoon, a sheet of water swirled across Francis Road just north of its intersection with Lindgren Road and isolated much of the Nookachamps Valley. Several hundred acres of low-lying pastures and other farm land in the area was inundated. A group of curious spectators can be seen watching the water pour east across the road. The camera is looking north.
